

Digital Kite Flying

Brendan Oliver

Concept & exhibition design by Gurdeep Sian

29 June – 20 July, Cube gallery

Digital Kite Flying - commissioned by Phoenix in partnership with An Indian Summer - is an interactive artwork that whisks you away to the rooftops of the Indian city of Udaipur.

Using body sensors that respond to your hand movements, you can fly digital kites high above the city. You can also design your own kites that will become part of the artwork.

Digital Guide to India

Phoenix cafebar

An engaging exhibition that will enable you to learn about the geography and people of each region of India, accompanied by a photographic exhibition.

The Pleasure Centre

Stuart Croft, Edward Thomasson
& Michael Robinson

Fri 14 – Fri 21 Jun, Cube gallery

The pursuit of pleasure is at the heart of this exhibition of films by three leading artists - produced in association with De Montfort University and curated by Phoenix and Anna Lucas.

www.pleasurecentre.com.

Computer Arts Society Talks

Paul Brown

Tue 11 Jun 6.30pm,
Phoenix Seminar Rooms

The first in a new series of talks in partnership with the Computer Arts Society for anyone interested in the history and future of digital art. Artist and writer Paul Brown will talk about his pioneering work, which has helped shape the world of art, design and technology since the 1970s. A leading figure in the development of digital art, Paul has exhibited internationally, including at the Tate and V&A.